

GPSG Newsflash

08-Oct-2016

Dear Colleagues,

We do not usually send out successive newsflashes within the space of a few days, but following yesterday's news reports regarding the UK government's apparent decision to bar non-UK academics from advising on Brexit, we would like to share this statement with our members and affiliates.

We will be liaising with other learned societies and groups of the political studies community to ensure that our members have a voice and that they are treated with equality and dignity.

Kind Regards,

Roman
